

• Occupational Training / Eligible Training Provider

Oxford Institute of Technology offers a variety of occupational skills training opportunities that can help you gain meaningful skills for your career. Enrollment into training programs is based on available funding and certain eligibility requirements. You will want to discuss the enrollment process and selecting the right training opportunity with one of our Career Advisors.

With the assistance of one of our Career Advisors, participants who are determined eligible for occupational training can select a training program from a list of providers that meet the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) and Oxford Institute of Technology eligibility requirements. All training providers that Oxford Institute of Technology contracts with are listed on the State of California Employment Development Department Eligible Training Provider List. The Eligible Training Provider List \(ETPL\) is a publicly available statewide list of training providers whose programs have demonstrated the qualifications necessary to receive WIOA training funds.
